MERRY CHRISTMAS.

We wish our patrons, one and all, rich and poor, white and colored, old folks, young folks and little folks, a very happy, merry Christmas. Enjoy them while you can. "Eat, drink and be merry." May you live long and prosper.

Ballot boxes in which each ballot was passed around a glass cylinder by means of a crank, which also rang a bell and recorded the vote, were used in the recent Boston municipal election.—N. Y. Sun.

What is needed in Massachusetts is not ingenious glass ballot boxes, but an enfranchising of 130,000 "poor white trash," who are not allowed to get near enough to a voting precinct to see the "cylinder" as it turns "by means of a crank." More liberty and less law as to elections is in order in the "Bay state."—Wilmington Star.

The good people of Massachusetts might follow the advice of the Star and enfranchise the "poor white trash" as the Star is pleased to call them; and then follow the style of the Star's party in North Carolina, and bulldoze and prevent all from voting except those who vote to suit them. We have yet to see the article in the Star condemning the action of the pollholders at the last election, in preventing a thousand citizens from voting in this city. Mr. Kingsbury, try and get the beam out of your own eye before you attempt to take the mote out of the eye of another.

The "Star" undertakes to give the expenses of the Wilmington Custom House at this place, and proceeds to publish a lot of figures, but does give the facts. There is no excuse for such blunders, as the reporter of the "Star" is in the Custom House here every day and could have obtained from the pay roll the exact figures. But, then, Kingsbury may not want the truth in this case—it would not have suited his purpose. The figures are at least 20 per cent too much, and the collections will run up to a hundred thousand dollars this year.

BEAUFORT ITEM OF INTEREST.—We learn from a friend writing us from Beaufort, that our young friend, Mr. Thomas D. Duncan and Miss Laura Nelson were married at the residence of the bride's mother, and that after the marriage Mr. D. took his bride home to his own splendidly located and handsomely furnished residence, and the friends of the bridal pair enjoyed a regal good time. We wish them a long and happy life. May no cloud ever cross their paths to make it otherwise.

Ally, or Alfred, or A. M., or Col. A. M., or we might say the Honorable ex-Member of Congress, Alfred M. Waddell, has been on a visit to Beaufort duck shooting. Well, we have heard it called by all sorts of names, "mending fences," or "looking after legal business," but we confess this is the first time we ever heard it called "duck shooting." And so Alfred attends the Fairs at Fayetteville and Clinton, shoots deer in Duplin and Onslow, takes a fish in Brunswick, but when he gets to old Carteret he calls it duck shooting. We are like brother Jones, you may call it what you please, but we like the old name the best, and should we ever go out making a quiet canvass for the nomination for Congress we shall certainly not call it duck shooting, Alfred, my boy. Stedman, Allan, McLean, McRae, Short, Troy, Scott, of Onslow, Richardson, McClammy, nor even Shackelford will be fooled by your new fangled name for Congressional honors. All these men are candidates, and all except Shackelford, will make creditable candidates for the Democratic party. If you are ashamed of being a candidate, and you are calling it duck shooting on that account, we confess you have one redeeming quality left, but that is the only one.

The next we hear of Ally he will be down catching clams with McClammy on old Topsail Sound, and he will probably go from there to Moore county for recreation. We can tell you, Maj. Stedman has both eyes out, and is well posted as to your whereabouts. If you say so we will keep everybody informed of your doings and travels, of course we do not desire to embarrass you, and would like your pleasure concerning the matter before acting.

AND STILL THEY COME.

We have received one hundred new subscribers during the past week. What paper is there in this state that can beat that.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad.

We learn that the commissioners appointed by the state have sold the road to Dr. Canedo and his backers, with a contract that they shall finish the road from Wilmington to Mount Airy within the next three years. We are glad to hear that we are to have another trunk line west, and if the parties are all they are represented to be, we may expect Wilmington will be very greatly benefitted by the sale.

CUTTING WILMINGTON OFF.—And the railroad authorities are contemplating running a railroad across from Wilson, N. C., to Florence, S. C., leaving Wilmington out in the cold. And this is what the Star, a paper published and supported by the merchants of Wilmington, is pleased to call the "march of progress." This city cannot stand many such grand marches.—We want to hold up the city, and the way to do it is to guard its interests, which the newspapers published here are expected to do.

Hon. David A. Jenkins in a New Role.

This gentleman is in Washington, and we learn from the telegrams that he has been visiting gambling places, and in his small operations he has lost the sum of $6,000. We are very much surprised at this, as we never knew the Honorable Dave was in the habit of such questionable conduct—$6,000 during one sitting is a very handsome little amount to lose, and we do not think the gentleman can stand such hands many times; the reputation that a man makes is not very enviable either, and we should doubt the report if the information was not direct from Mr. Jenkins himself, by telegraph to his bankers to stop the payment of the checks, and give it as an excuse that they were given for a debt contracted at cards.—High toned gentlemen, of the late, thank God departed era, regarded gambling debts as "debts of honor."

M. W. Hilburn of Brunswick county, was in the city on Wednesday last and says there is a portion of Brunswick county that has not had a school since 1861. In No. 9, Town Creek township, there has only been three free schools in twelve years; and a portion of lower Northwest was annexed to his school district, and they have not had the benefit of a school, to his knowledge, since previous to the late war. He complains that the school matters are badly managed, and he wishes to live until the next election for the pupose of aiding in the retiring of the present bourbon Democratic state government, whom he says are entirely responsible for the same. And he says there are a very large number of others who have been, like himself, Democrats, who will join him in this retiring process.

Mr. Hilburn has been a very active Democrat, and labored for his party faithfully, but he says they have become too corrupt for him or any other liberal minded and honest Democrat to support; therefore he will stand, in future by the anti-bourbons, and hundreds of his neighbors will do likewise.

V. Q. Johnson, the able and accomplished Superintendent of the C. C. Railroad, is a good man and a splendid officer. It is often asked what the V. Q. stands for in his name. We never thought to tell the many interested and anxious persons, but we will now impart to them a small piece of secret history. Should their business or pleasure call them up the C. C. Road on the night train, we feel certain they will discover the full name of Col. Johnson to be Very Quick Johnson. The Colonel does not like for anyone to know his full christian name, and we would not for the world let him know that we have told it, therefore we enjoin secrecy on all our readers.

The headquarters of the river and harbor improvements, we understand will be removed to this city soon.—Unless the conduct of the resident engineer is reformed very greatly, our city will not be honored very highly by the change. We want immigration, but not on the tainted Bacon order.

C. F. & Y. V. R. R.—Dr. Canedo, of the New York and Southern Railway and Telegraph Construction Company, has become the purchaser of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R., which means, that Wilmington is to be connected, at an early day, with a line of railway direct to the Ohio river.

Colonel S. L. Fremont, who has been in charge of the government work at Savannah, Ga., for the past four months, is now in the city.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

WADESBORO, N. C., Dec. 22, 1881.

The Carolina Fair was opened here on the 20th, and has been going on for the past three days, 20th, 21st and 22d. This is the first annual fair of the association, and the first ever attempted to be held in this section of North Carolina by the colored people, but they have astonished themselves and everybody else, in the grand success they have met with. The exhibition has been fine and the attendance good, notwithstanding the bad weather.

The first days' proceedings were the completion of the arrangements, and placing the articles in proper condition for the exhibition. The address of welcome was made by Rev. L. D. Twine, of Monroe, and Rev. E. G. Jones, of Lexington.

A committee was appointed, consisting of A W Covington, J H Holloway, W Howard, Jno H Whiteman, and Rev. G E Jones, to wait on Judge R T Bennett and Hon O H Dockery, and request them to address the association.

SECOND DAY.

Prof N W Harlee of Lexington, delivered the annual address, and it was very fine, and highly spoken of by all. Colonel C R Jones, of the Charlotte "Observer," being present was called on and addressed the people in an exceedingly appropriate manner. One would have thought the whole Democratic party had become Republicans. Colonel O H Dockery, the war horse of the upper Cape Fear, was introduced and spoke for an hour—one of the best speeches of his life, and he was highly applauded throughout. No man stands better with the masses of the people than Dockery of Rockingham.

THIRD DAY.

Hon R T Bennett was the orator of the day. He talked to his people in that happy manner that only Judge Bennett can command.

Hon W P Canaday was next called for, when Colonel O H Dockery arose and read a telegram, just received by Jno H Whiteman, Esq, from Mr Canaday, stating that public duty required his attention elsewhere, and tendering to the association his congratulations for the success the association had met with, and best wishes for their future prosperity.

Hon Jno H Williamson, Secretary of the Baleigh Fair, made a splendid speech.

Time is too short to undertake to give you a detailed account of the whole fair; but I will state that the display of farm products, such as corn, potatoes, peas, oats, hay, fodder, turnips and cotton, as well as the live stock, horses, cows, sheep, hogs and dogs, and specimens of wood, rock and ores, were all very fine.

The ladies department was also praiseworthy. Hand-work, such as quilts, counterpins, tidies, lamp mats and crochet articles of all kinds. The cakes, bread, jellies, pickels and sweetmeat showed fine accomplishments in the cookery line.

Captain Warren C Coleman of Concord, N. C., was on hand with his fine team—the best in the state—and great praise is due to Mr Coleman for the interest he takes in these associations. He believes in doing everything in his power to make them a success. He made 125 entries for exhibition, and like his team, everything brought by him was of the very finest quality, which would have done credit to any man in any state.

I will write more fully concerning the prizes for your next. The POST is highly thought of in this section of the state. Your course in fighting for the rights of the colored people to hold office, as well as vote will never be forgotten by the colored people of North Carolin.

ONE OF THEM.

Marriage licenses issued during the past week by the Register of Deeds: Jas. F. Hart and Miss Mary L. Wicker; Jas. J. Farrow and Miss Melvina Williams; Randell Porter and Miss Dunmor; Antny Ryan and Miss Jeanette Sampson; Geo. Macks and Miss Rebecca Shepard; Calvin Kelly and Miss Polly Rascon; Alexander Brown and Miss Hester Ganse; Claybern Robinson and Miss Harriet Neal; Aaron Dixon and Miss Polly M. Williams; Lewis Hunter and Miss Mary Vereen; Henry Robinson and Miss Rebecca Simmons.

Ex-Senator Hanabal Hamlin, of Maine, new Minister to Spain, presented his credentials to King Alfonso on the 20th. Mr. Fairchilds presented his letter of recall, and left at once for home.

Meeting on Change—Resolutions in Reference to the Death of Henry Nutt, Esq., &c.

A joint meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange, was held at the rooms of the latter on Monday afternoon last, the first Vice President of the Chamber, Mr. E. Peschau, called the same to order and announced that it had been called to take some action in reference to the loss that had been sustained in the death of Henry Nutt, Esq., an honorary member of the Chamber.

Mr. Alex. Sprunt, British Vice Consul, moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft suitable resolutions, and the chair appointed Messrs. Alex. Sprunt, C. H. Robinson and Thos. Evans said committee.

The committee retired, and, after a short absence, returned and reported as follows:

WHEREAS, This Chamber having heard with the deepest regret of the demise, yesterday, of our highly esteemed fellow-member and fellow-citizen, Henry Nutt, Esq., desires to pass the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in the death of Henry Nutt we have to mourn the loss of one of the most prominent, experienced, energetic and wise members of our Chamber and of this community, who commanded our highest esteem during the period of more than half a century.

Resolved, That we regard the death of Mr. Nutt as a great loss to our commercial interests and public improvements, in which he took the warmest interest and perseveringly promoted.

Resolved, That whilst bowing to the will of the Most High, we shall ever cherish his memory, as one whose death we shall long deplore; whilst we seek to follow his example as a worthy, high-toned citizen and Christian gentleman.

Resolved, That his bereaved family have our sincere sympathy and condolence under this great affliction; that a special record of Mr. Nutt's death be made by the Secretary in our minute book, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

It was further resolved that the members of both bodies attend the funeral in a body.

IN MEMORIAM

Miss Sarah B. Hill, who died at Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C., on Saturday night, Dec. 17th, 1881, was a young lady of great promise. She was entering upon her fourth year in school at this institution of learning. By diligence in study she had made rapid progress, and had exhibited such ability that during the last session she was appointed to the position of assistant teacher, and her class at the spring examination gave evidence of having been well taught, and that she possessed first-class qualification as a teacher. During the present term she was re-appointed to her former position, and in addition taught a class in instrumental music. She was a young lady beloved by all her teachers and associates in school, and her name will long be remembered, and her early death mourned, by all who knew her.

For some time before she was stricken with fever her health had not been good, but it was hoped that with the return of cooler weather that she would improve in strength, but Providence had ordered otherwise. About the 20th of November she was taken with the fever, and although at first of a mild type, yet it finally developed into typhoid pneumonia. She was fully conscious of the fatal character of her disease, and was able at times to converse with her friends. It is but just to her memory, for the writer to bear testimony to her many admirable qualities, to one, who among the hundreds of young ladies who have pursued their studies under his direction, has been surpassed by none, giving rich promise of a life of great usefulness, and if she had continued her studies as she proposed, in two years she without doubt would have received appointment as a regular teacher in her Alma Mater.

In the prayer meeting her voice was often heard, and she lived an exemplary Christian life. In the times of revival she labored with great zeal, and was listened to with interest and profit. Her strong faith and trust was beautifully illustrated in the last days of her life. She spoke many words of comfort to her mother and friends, and was ready and willing to die. Her trust and hope was in her Redeemer, and death had no terror for her. Her triumph and victory was complete, and while she has departed this life our loss is her gain, for she is with Christ in glory. This thought, together with the fact that she was a kind and affectionate daughter and sister, we trust will do much to comfort the afflicted family, and lead them cheerfully to submit to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

President Shaw University.

OBITUARY.

On Sunday morning last, the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Sarah B. Hill, of this city, was received from Raleigh, where the deceased was attending school. Miss Hill was a young lady of very high standing in this community—she was the oldest of two daughters of our friend Mr. William B. Hill. For five years she was a student at the New Hampshire Memorial Institute of this city; in the fall of 1878 she entered the Estey Seminary at Raleigh, N. C., and was a student there at the time of her death. In October, after spending her vacation at home, she returned to Raleigh for the purpose of completing her course and graduating next spring, but on the 1st of December was taken with malarial fever, of which she died on Saturday night last at 10 o'clock. The family arrived with the body Sunday night at 9.55 o'clock, and were met at the depot by many sympathising friends. The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the First Colored Baptist Church of which Miss Hill was the organist and a Sabbath School teacher, when in the city. She was a young lady of culture and refinement and dearly beloved by all who knew her. And while we bow to Heaven's will, and know that "our loss is her gain," we feel that no other can ever fill the now vacant place left in our hearts by her death.

"Yet again we hope to meet thee
When the day of life is fled,
And in heaven we hope to greet thee
Where no farewell tear is shed."

MISS MAGGIE WHITEMAN.

We are sorry to learn that Dr. Irwin of the marine hospital service in this city has been sick for some days.

The U. S. Government has had a very substantial wood fence put around the Marine Hospital in this city

The people in the Cape Fear section are crying for more water, not for their whiskey, but for their turpentine and timber rafts.

Messrs. Brunhild & Bro., of this city, will accept our thanks for valuables consisting of anti-prohibition documents of the most substantial kind.

Messrs. Hancock & Daggett are having their old store on Market street thoroughly overhauled and enlarged, and when completed will be one of the handsomest stores in the city.

We hope all our friends will be sure to visit the Fair of our Hebrew friends at the City Hall on Tuesday next. It will be the grandest affair of the kind ever held here, and they deserve success.

The Collector of Customs has just received new carpets for the rooms occupied by the Inspectors, Marine Hospital Surgeon, Internal Revenue Deputy Collector, and the Entrance and Clearance office. The other offices were newly furnished some months ago.

The young men of the Front Street M. E. Church presented the Rev. Mr. Yeates with a handsome gold headed cane a few days ago, as a token of their affection for him their old pastor and friend.

Mr. Frank James, the efficent health officer of this city, was busy around town on yesterday, delivering provisions to the poor. Mr. James deserves the thanks of our people for the kindly interest he took in serving the poor out good substantial Christmas dinners.

OUR SYMPATHY.—We tender to Hon. Orlando Hubbs, member of Congress from the Second District, our heartfelt sympathy in his sad bereavement. The loss of his little son, though only two years of age, is a severe blow, and every father who has experienced the loss of a child can truly sympathize with Mr. Hubbs and his dear lady in their affliction.

General Allan Rutherford and lady, of Washington, arrived in the city on Friday. They come for the purpose of spending the holidays with Hon. Jos. H Neff, the father of Mrs. R. We wish them a merry and happy Christmas—may they enjoy many more of them. The General is, deservedly, very popular here, and since he captured one of our Wilmington ladies he is considered more so than before.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & MURCHISON.—It is rumored on our streets that there is likely to be some important changes in the firm of Messrs. Williams & Murchison, of our city. These gentlemen have been in business here since 1866, and by superior management have amassed very large fortunes. We learn the changes are not likely to damage the business interest of our city by taking either of the gentlemen away from here.

Deeds and mortgages probated by the proper officers during the past week: F. H. Darby, commissioner, deed to L. Vollers; E. E. Burruss, deed to Isaac H. Smith; E. E. Burruss, deed to S. P Wallace; F. H. Darby, commissioner, deed to E. G. Barker; Charles Steward, deed to R. W. Hicks; Jasper Bisbee, mortgage to Hart, Baily & Co.; Hector Smith and wife, deed to Catharine H. Wright; S. H. Manning, deed to Ashley Gilbert; R. B. Lewis, mortgage to R. C. Gore

New Year and Christmas are always days of great joy to the happy and contented, but in order that one may be happy he must have to a certain extent his wants supplied. To the ladies we would say that for a good stock, cheap goods and a fine variety, go to Hedrick's, the veteran dry goods dealer of this city for your goods. At HEDRICK'S the childrens' wants can be supplied, and for gentlemen and boys he offers silk handkerchiefs, good hose, excellent suit cloths, and the largest stock of neck wear in the city. Don't forget old "Nursey" on New Year's Day, get her one of those nice counterpanes, or, well, never mind, we will let Col. Hedrick show you what he has, and we are sure you may, with his aid, make a far more appropriate selection than we could suggest. Col. Bedrick has a large stock and sells his goods at a reasonable price. Our friends in the country in need of goods would do well to send their orders to him.

The magistrates of this city, or many of them, have long been carrying on a system of working up cases, and then compromising them. Having runners in their employ, and affidavit men, or men whom they use, to make affidavits, when in fact the "affidavit man" knows nothing of the case, except the information the magistrate gives him. The Judge of the criminal court, Hon. O P. Evans, has time and again tried to stop it, but he has been unable to do so; but we cannot help believing that there is some remedy. And we intend in future to publish the names of magistrates, also of the "affidavit man" and the defendant. And for that purpose we request aggrieved parties to give or send us the information.

These Pillows are in the habit of moving around, and if they hear of two sisters quarreling inside of their own bosoms, or man and his wife spanking a little cross to each other. A neighbor forbidding another to allow his or her chickens over in his or her yard, a warrant is issued, the parties are brought up and told if they will pay the cost it will all be right. And nine times out of ten the defendants will comply before standing trial—and that is why this high-handed game is carried on, from the fact that people submit to it. Our enterprising daily is afraid to expose the rottenness of these people, or it would have stopped many months ago.

There are a few more improvements in this city who do business in a legitimate way, there are very few.

THE WILMINGTON POST.

W. P. CANADAY, Proprietor.

WILMINGTON, N. C.,

SUNDAY MORNING, DEC. 25, 1881.

Congressman Hubbs, from the Second North Carolina District, was called home on last Sunday by the sudden death of his child.

Judge Houk, of Tennessee, is considered the leader of the southern Republicans in the House, and an able leader he is, too.

The new five cent postage stamp will be put in circulation about February 1st. It is called the Garfield stamp, as it bears his portrait on its face.

The Special Committee of the Senate to investigate irregularities of the contingent funnd of the Treasury Department, appointed on the motion of Senator Sherman, held its first session last Monday.

Thos. C. Acton, of New York, has been appointed sub-Treasurer of the United States in place of Hillhouse, resigned. Mr. Acton is a prominent man in New York politics, and is a pronounced Conkling man.

Revision of the tariff seems to be giving the members of Congress considerable trouble, particularly the Democratic portion of them. They are badly split on the question, with no hope of an agreement.

We publish in another column an editorial of Dr. J. J. Mott, chairman of the State Republican Committee of North Carolina, by a reporter of the National Republican, of Washington, D. C. The views of Dr. Mott are pointedly expressed, and show the true state of affairs in the politics of the state. Dr. Mott is right in all he says, and particularly so about the people being the Mahone's of North Carolina.

DEATH OF HENRY NUTT.

On Sunday last, at 5 o'clock p. m., one of the most honorable and valuable citizens of this city and state paid the debt that we all must pay sooner or later. Henry Nutt is dead. How sad the word sounds when used about ordinary persons, but it is terrible when used concerning one who stood as high in the respect of the entire people of North Carolina, as did the subject of this article. He was truly a good and useful man and valuable citizen. Mr. Nutt was in his 74th year—old in years yet young in his general conduct, he had lived a long and useful life. Entering in business when quite young, he soon became one of the leading merchants and business men of this city; always foremost in public enterprises, he had as much, if not more to do with the general prosperity of this city, previous to the war, than any other one man here, and when the rebellion came on he was one of the wealthiest men in Wilmington. His money was made by hard work and honest, square dealing with his fellow man.

The construction of the Wilmington & Weldon railroad was to a very large extent due to Henry Nutt. He was one of the largest subscribers to the Wilton & Manchester railroad, and served for many years as a director; he was twice tendered the Presidency of the road by a unanimous vote of the Board of Directors, but on account of private business declined the honor. He was a large stockholder in the Deep River Navigation Company, and was urged by both stockholders and citizens to accept the position of President of said Company, but refused. He was exceedingly well posted concerning the history of the city, and the men of the olden times.

After the war, Mr. Nutt having retired from business, turned his attention entirely to the future prosperity of this city, and being a man of great ability and judgment, he knew the first thing to be accomplished was to have our river and bar so improved that larger ships could come to the wharves of the city. He therefore went to work agitating the question among our business men; the Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting to consider the question, and many of those who now claim great credit for the present improvements, did at that time everything in their power against Mr. Nutt's propositions. Notwithstanding the outspoken opposition of some, and the coldness of nearly all of the business men to his pet scheme, he finally succeeded in having a committee appointed to visit Washington and lay the matter before Congress. He was made chairman of the committee, and spent many months at the captol looking after our interests, finally succeeding in getting an appropriation. The work was commenced, he following it up like an able and zealous servant, watching every movement, reporting all that was done, in detail, to the Chamber of Commerce, for eight years, without personal reward or the hope of reward, and at last the wish of his life was in part realized. New Inlet was closed. Mr. Nutt, with his little grand-child, the daughter of Mr. Oscar G. Parsley, in his arms, walked across on the stone work, from end to end, dry footed. The channel at the mouth of the river at once commenced improving. Then, for the first time, the doubts were removed, and those who had sneered at Mr. Nutt now commenced claiming part of the credit, and from that day certain men began to show considerable jealousy of the honorable laurels worn so modestly by him, and finally they drove him from the work. For three years the Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce refused to allow his reports to be published, or to call meetings of the Chamber so Mr. Nutt could make his written reports to that body. The writer of this being in personal consultation often with him, could see the very great mortification with which he submitted to these official insults, saying but little concerning them, from the fear of injuring the work that he loved so dearly. And finally an open rupture took place between A. H. VanBokkelen, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Nutt in our presence, Mr. VanBokkelen outrageously insulting him but on the presentation of Mr. Nutt's cane to Mr. VanBokkelen's nose he did not repeat his cowardly conduct. Mr. Henry Nutt was a very modest and unassuming gentleman, but brave as a lion when aroused.

Some time during the month of October Mr. Nutt tendered his resignation of the chairmanship of the river and bar improvement committee, a position he had held for eleven years, and for eight years he was allowed to serve to the credit of himself and his committee. From the time he was virtually driven from an active participation in the work, the detailed management of it has been exceedingly disgraceful, Bacon and VanBokkelen insulting and snubbing him on all occasions, they finally accomplished their great aim, and forced him to resign, and from that day Mr. Nutt's health has been failing, caused by the conduct of those who had charge of the work. He could see why they had such antipathy to him and it mortified him to think that the improvement was made to serve such base purposes, until on Sunday last, in the ripe old age of 74, a beloved husband and father, and a high toned, honorable, christian gentleman and citizen, breathed his last. We honestly believe that the early death of Henry Nutt, Esq., is due to the treatment he received at the hands of A. H. VanBokkelen and Henry Bacon.

But the name of Henry Nutt will live among the great men of the 19th century. He has a monument across New Inlet that will stand for all ages. The loss to this city cannot and will never be repaired. He has gone; peace to his ashes.

The funerel took place on Tuesday morning last at St. John's Church, thence to Oakdale Cemetery.

HON. THOMAS S. LUTTERLOH.

This gentleman was in our city on Monday last, on his way home from Savannah, Ga., and paid us a call. We found him in fine spirits, politically.—He says the anti-Bourbon Democracy combination is gaining ground every day. The people, he says, are tired of the corrupt ring that now has charge of state affairs, and the Democratic prohibition bill was the "last hair that broke the camels back;" that the people had submitted to have their rights taken from them in local self government by Jarvis and his crowd; they had submitted to many other flagrant outrages, but at last they were aroused by the prohibition bill and voted it down, now while they are at it they intend to have the right to elect their own local officers, and will retire the present prohibition state government to the shades of private life.

Mr. Lutterloh has no doubt but what the state is Republican by 25,000 majority, but he says, notwithstanding all that, he is in favor of a combination with the liberal Democrats who are in favor of "a free ballot and a fair count," "local self-government," and equal rights to all men before the law. With such a combination the state will be carried by 50,000 majority.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

Gen. Joseph Johnston says that Jeff. Davis had $2,500,000 when he left Richmond, just before Grant come in. From the way the poor Confederate soldiers fared we should not be surprised to hear that he had even more than that amount.

And now there is another report about Mrs. Abraham Lincoln—she has gone blind this time. What next.

Captain H. H. Riddleberger, of the Readjuster party, has been elected U. S. Senator from Virginia by a hand some majority. The Democrats voted for the present incumbent, Senator Johnson—a few straightout Republicans voted for General Wickham. The state of Virginia will now be represented in Congress by two Senators and four Representatives who are anti-bourbon Democrats, and four straight bourbons, as members of the House.

The Small-pox is raging in Chicago, Baltimore, Richmond and several other cities north of us.

Another Democratic defaulter, W. E. Derring has just run off with $55,000 in New Orleans. And still they come.

ATLANTA EXPOSITION.

Will close on the 1st day of January, so it is reported. From those who have been there we learn that it is a great success, and will certainly result very greatly to the benefit of the country. It has brought the people of the whole Union together and they know each other better than they did before. The northern farmer, mechanic and merchant has been south and seen and talked face to face with the southern farmer, mechanic and merchant, and they have learned that their interests are mutual—what will benefit the one will the other; the same sun shines on all, and the same laws have got to be made for, and respected by all. Such gatherings will do more to stop the south calling northern people Yankees and the north from calling southern people rebels than anything that can be done. We want more of them. It is the business men who are going to rule the world, and they will force politicians to pass wholesome laws to protect all alike, and the sooner the southern business man finds that it is his duty to stop abusing the Yankee, and treat him as an associate and brother, the better it will be for him.—It is to the interest of the Democratic politician to keep up the sectional feeling and hatred of the northern people and the United States government; but not so with the business man, he wants peace, harmony and the best of feeling if he expects to succeed, and to do that he must vote for men who are in favor of the government.

The following resolutions were adopted in the House of Representatives at Washington on Wednesday last:

WHEREAS, The melancholy event of the violent and tragic death of James A. Garfield, late President of the United States, having occurred during the recess of Congress, and the two houses of Congress sharing in the general grief, and desiring to manifest their sensibility on the occasion of public bereavement.

Resolved, That the two houses of Congress will assemble in the hall of the House of Representatives on a day and hour to be fixed and announced by a joint committee, and that in the presence of the two houses there assembled an address on the life and character of James A. Garfield, late President of the United States, be pronounced by Hon. James G. Blaine, and that the President of the Senate pro tem., and the Speaker of the House of Representatives be requested to invite the President and ex-Presidents of the United States, the heads of the several departments, the Judges of the Supreme Court, representatives of foreign governments, the Governors of the several states, the General of the Army, the Admiral of the Navy, and such officers as have received the thanks of Congress.

Resolved, further, That the President of the United States be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to Mrs. Lucretia R. Garfield, and to assure her of the profound sympathy of the two houses of Congress for her deep personal affliction, and their sincere condolence for the late national bereavement.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Frederick T. Frelingheusen, of New Jersey, has been nominated and unanimously confirmed as Secretary of State, in place of Hon. James G. Blaine, resigned.

Benjamin H. Brewster, of Philadelphia, has been made Attorney General in place of Wayne MacVeagh, vamboost.

J. C. Bancroft Davis has been appointed First Assistant Secretary of State, in place of Mr. —— Hill, resigned to accept the Presidency of a Bank.

Postmaster General Thos. L. James has tendered his resignation to take effect 1st January, 1882.

It is reported that Secretary of the Navy, Hunt, of Louisiana, is soon to retire from the Cabinet, and will accept the vacancy on Court of Claims, made vacant by the resignation of Bancroft Davis, who accepted Assistant Secretaryship of State.

Both Houses of Congress adjourned on Wednesday to the 5th day of January. We wish them a pleasant Christmas.

Ex-Senator Timothy O. Howe, of Wisconsin, has been appointed Postmaster-General, and will assume the office on 1st of January next.

Judge Horace Grey, of Massachusetts, was nominated Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, and was confirmed by the Senate on Tuesday last.

The Senate confirmed the nomination of Wm. H. Trescutt, to be Special Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the Republics of Chilli, Peru and Bolivia.

Yesterday Hon. William E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, called upon President Arthur for the purpose of advocating the retention of a friend of his in office in Florida. He said that the only objection made against his friend was that he had not worked very hard for Garfield and Arthur. "But," continued William E., with a wink, "he worked as hard for Garfield and Arthur as he dared to under the late administration." A broad smile on the countenance of "the administration" showed that he understood the italic words thoroughly. That'll do, William E. There's a trace of true attic salt in it that makes it palatable.—National Republican.

The wife of Mr. Hobbs, one of the jury of the Guiteau trial at Washington, died on the 19th and was buried on the 21st.

Ex-Senator Blaine has abandoned his expected southern tour this winter, and will reside in Washington, D. C., and entertain as usual.

The only law passed by this Congress is the act giving Mrs. Garfield the franking privilege for life. It has passed both Houses and has been signed by the President.

The excitement in the different Departments at Washington is very great, owing to the many changes that have taken place and are about to take place in the heads of the Departments in the different Bureaus and in the Divisions. No one knows whose head is next. All are looking for the fall of the axe which will sever their official heads, yet hoping to escape it.

Ex-Marshal Wallace, T. M. Johnson and Baldwin, the present incumbent, are all candidates for the Collectorship at Charleston, S. C., and all in Washington urging their claims. Mr. Johnson is a good man, a square Republican, and if appointed will make a good officer.

Ex-Secretary of State, James G. Blaine, gave a reception to his successor, Hon. Frederick T. Frelingheuysen, on Monday evening last. The National Republican says it was one of the most brilliant affairs that ever took place in Washington. A larger number of distinguished persons were present than ever before attended a reception at the Capital, the President, Vice-President, members of the Cabinet, Senators and Representatives, high officers of the Army and Navy, distinguished citizens, and every foreign representative. The National Republican, in closing a long and exceedingly complimentary description of the reception, says:

The guests in retiring felt a kindly regret at losing from public life a gentleman who has always, even when official duties weighed heaviest, found opportunity to dispense generous hospitality and afford social entertainment for his large circle of admiring friends. The admirable tact, suavity of manner, happy flow of conversation, and ready fund of anecdote possessed by Mr. Blaine peculiarly fit him to shine socially, and probably no house in Washington is freighted with more pleasant memories of delightful social enjoyments than that of the ex-Secretary of State, the lights of which are but just going out, and the blaze of last night's entertainment is just fading away as this account is being written.

Hon. Geo. M. Huskin has been nominated by the President, Attorney for the southern district of Alabama.

Why Not Impeach Jarvis?

TARBORO, N. C., Dec. 10, 1881.

The fact that the feeling of ill-concealed contempt for Governor Jarvis in the minds of those of the Democratic party throughout the state not directly connected with this machine, has been steadily growing since his inauguration, Republicans, all of whom abhor him as a receiver of stolen goods, in that through the means of the boldest frauds in the eastern part of the state ever perpetrated in North Carolina, he today occupies the Executive chair to which Ralph P. Buxton was elected had the popular will been honestly ascertained, were in a condition to be gratified rather than surprised at the following editorial from the Newbernian, of the 12th of November, as a sign that the brave people of North Carolina no longer to condone the great fraud by virtue of which Thos. J. Jarvis exercises the functions of Governor:

"But the unpleasant news is traveling, and by underground telegraph has reached this office, that demagogueism is possessing T. J. Jarvis—and almost an unholy ambition has seized him and made him its own.

"That the man, in fact the Governor of the bravest people that the bright smiles of Heaven ever shone upon, should stoop and bend himself to dollars and cents, makes us blush for our own manhood.

"Have we arrived—maybe all too soon—let us pause—can it be possible, that a successor of Manly, of Graham, Reid, of Bragg,—of that glorious Ellis, who unfolded to our vision an emblem of freedom, which we followed through showers of grapes and shell—and are to-day proud of our following—can it be possible, that the chosen one of the great Democracy has fallen prostrate and surrendered all his manhood to Mo-loch?

"We are loth to think so.

"We stood in the ranks in 1880. The name of T. J. Jarvis was our watchword and battle-cry.

"Because he was an eastern man; because he was a Confederate officer,—and because, like us, he was a Democrat—sometimes called Bourbon—we wrote his name upon our heart, and determined that it should be written upon the ticket we voted for Governor. When T. J. Jarvis was nominated, we were more than pleased.

"Most it so be, that we, who have been so loud-tongued in praise, must now keep silent or bite our tongue in shame? And has it come to this at last?"

Bearing in mind that hitherto the editor of the Newbernian has been Jarvis' swift champion; that whatever we may think of Mr. Latham's (the editor's) Bourbon Democracy, he is nevertheless a man, who, in the face of adversity, squares to the rule of strict integrity, and the above expression of his shame and disgust is honest—what a commentary this editorial is!

Recently Gov. Jarvis, in answer to the conviction of his guilt that has forced itself on public sentiment, awakened, as it was, by the several papers which followed in the wake of the Newbernian, has published a cringing article in the Raleigh News and Observer, his organ, attempting to justify his relations with the Richmond & Danville people. As Republicans we have nothing to do with the family fight between Messrs. Vance, Jarvis and Worth; but it is within our province, as a party, to take advantage, in a legitimate way, of any facts that may have come to the surface in the melee. So in reviewing the history of this railroad business in the discussions from Democratic sources, we discover:

1. About the time for the meeting of the Democratic Convention to nominate a candidate for Governor, and other officers, in order to beat Judge Fowle, Gov. Jarvis made a bargain with the Richmond and Danville people by which that monopoly was to give him the nomination and in consideration therefor he was to turn over to them the office of Governor as to the railroad policy of the state.

2. Pending the election Best's syndicate came to grief and the matter of the sale of the Western N. C. Railroad was about to end in disaster to the Democratic ticket. Jarvis hastens to Col. A. B. Andrews, the R. & D manipulator in North Carolina, with additional promises and guarantees. Andrews shelled out the cash, and the election (so called) was saved.

3. After the election, Jarvis being duly installed, the monopoly, known as the Richmond and Danville Syndicate, feeling secure in its possession of the Executive, began measures to reap the harvest of the corrupt bargain made, which subsequently brought Vance to his feet; and Jarvis by way of covering his tracks wrote a saucy letter to the syndicate with dire threats as to what he should do should the R. & D. people persist in their discriminations and extortions against the North Carolina cities and towns and the public at large, said letter being thoroughly understood by the syndicate and as well seen through by the people as the merest feint.

4. Then the irrepressible Best gets up another syndicate, this time in Boston, and probably by ways that were dark and tricks that were vain, obtains from Vance, Jarvis and Worth, Commissioners, a written pledge to declare, upon certain conditions, a forfeiture of the contract under which the Raleigh and Danville monopoly held the Western North Carolina Railroad. The contingency on which the forfeiture was to be made happened; Vance proposes to stand up to the rack, Andrews gets wind of the news, collars Jarvis, Jarvis flies the track, inviggles Worth into signing an agreement for an extension of time to the Raleigh and Danville people; Worth afterwards hopes he hasn't played the devil, then Jarvis refuses to deliver the goods to Best and laughs at—Vance!

Note that this was the straw that broke editor Latham's back, who clearly intimates that the consideration which Jarvis, after the election, received from the Raleigh and Danville was a valuable one, his words being, "that the man (Jarvis) should stoop and bend himself to dollars and cents."

Again: Gov. Jarvis, in the News and Observer card above alluded to, says:

"I, at the time of my inaugural address, urged the creation of a railroad commission, composed of three of our best citizens. For cause, which need not now be given, the measure did not become a law, although both Houses by very large majorities favored it."

Hereby hangs a tale which it may be the writer can unfold. The people restive under the oppressive measures of certain railroads demand relief. The last legislature, appreciating this, undertook to enact the necessary legislation. Mr. Thomas, the excellent representative from Davidson county, after an arduous struggle succeeded in getting through the House a bill with plenary powers to check the railroads.—This bill was duly sent to the Senate, at least three weeks before the adjournment. It was promptly referred to the committee on internal improvements of which Senator, Staples of Guilford, was chairman. Notwithstanding the fact that myself and other Senators who were the warm friends of the measure arose in our places day after day and asked Colonel Staples for a report on the bill so that it might have a hearing by the Senate, a decided majority of which favored it, the blond fox from Guilford kept dodging and doubling until about two days before the adjournment, when his committee instructed Mr. Dortch, the Senator from Wayne, to report a substitute which emasculated the House bill of all its effective provisions, Colonel Staples well knowing the friends of the railroad commission would not have such a bastard, and further, that if they would, the substitute would not restrain the railroads, and that it would be impossible in the closing days of the session to get the House to act upon the substitute. Thus by pocketing the House bill, the matter of a railroad commission was defeated. Did Governor Jarvis have a hand in this? Beyond question, judging from the surrounding circumstances. It was an open secret that Staples was his representative in the Senate; it was an open secret that Staples was of retained counsel for the Raleigh and Danville people; it was an open secret that Staples throttled the bill; it was notorious that the agents of the Raleigh and Danville syndicate were present in person, lobying against the passage of the bill; no one doubted Jarvis's intimate relations with and slavish subserviency to the Raleigh and Danville Syndicate. Then if at the time of his inaugural address, Governor Jarvis was so terribly in earnest in urging a railroad commission, why, if he intended interfering in the matter, did he at this time, when one House had already passed the bill, not help its passage in the Senate, or why was the opposition confined almost exclusively to his lieutenants? If it be true that he caused the defeat of the bill, what spirit other than the order of the Richmond and Danville railroad changed his drums, why should he be so ready to obey the orders of that concern—why? And, dear Governor, will you please explain in your next paper what were the causes that prevented the "measure becoming a law although both Houses by large majorities favored it?" Verily, honest George Latham, Democrat as he is, had just cause to hang his head in shame in common with the decent people of the state of North Carolina!

Let the candid reader reflect upon Governor Jarvis's conduct in regard to railroad matters before the election of 1880, when he succeeded the unexpired term of Governor Vance who was sent to the United States Senate; let the candid reader reflect upon the conduct of Thomas J. Jarvis, as to railroad matters during the official term he is now serving; let the candid reader reflect that Democratic editors with shame and disgust, publish him as a bribe taker, as a man who has bargained and sold the Governor's office to a foreign syndicate that has inserted its poisonous fangs into the body politic and is sucking the life blood out of our people, as a thing of shame that has betrayed his high trust, with the oath of office, solemn as it is, fresh on his lips; then will not this candid reader rise above party feeling and demand that the House of Representatives of the next Legislature present to the Senate as a high Court of Impeachment the name of Thomas Jefferson Jarvis for high crimes and misdemeanors in office!

State Items.

Hon. Frank Dancy, Mayor of Tarboro, has been on a visit north.

Pender county Superior Court has been in session the past week, Judge Shipp presiding.

A man was murdered at Wilson, N. C., on Monday night last, and then laid on the railroad track so the train would pass over him. This was done to cover up the crime.

Dorsey Battle, for many years editor of the "Southerner," at Tarboro, N. C., has retired from the paper, and will in future practice his profession of the law. We wish him success.

The "Falcon," of Elizabeth City, comes to us this week as a daily. We hope the enterprise will prove successful, notwithstanding the politics of the paper, which are very mean, being Democratic.

Charles N. Hunter, Esq., of Raleigh, has accepted the position of associate editor of the "Banner," of that city.—Mr. Hunter is an able writer, a cultivated gentleman, and the "Banner" is to be complimented on being so fortunate as to obtain his valuable services.

Colonel O. H. Dockery, the wheel horse of the sixth district, has paid Atlanta a visit with his family. We hope he had a pleasant trip, though we doubt it, from the fact that he certainly had trouble in getting any North Carolina "pine top" in that city.

The work of widening and deepening of Harlow's canal, connecting Newport river with the Neuse river, has commenced. One dredge boat is at work and it is the intention of the managers to place another on soon. This is a very important work for Carteret and Craven counties, and we are much gratified at their good fortune.

H. R. S. S. Cox, Congressman from the Raleigh district, boards at the Riggs House in Washington. We only give the initials of his name, from the fact that we suppose everybody knows his full christian name; but in case there are any who do not, we will give it.—The H. is for Hold, the R. is for Robeson, one S. is for Save, and the other is for State. Properly translated it is, "Hold Robeson and Save the State."

The "Bugle," of Goldsboro, Dec. 19, says that the passenger train due here at 12.05 this morning did not arrive until 10 o'clock. The delay was caused by the placing of cross ties in a cattle guard near Harrisburg, station this side of Charlotte. The first truck under the engine was knocked out and other damage done the train; but fortunately no one was hurt. The attempts to wreck trains are getting too frequent, and the railroad authorities are doing all in their power to bring the offenders to justice.

Hon. James Rumley, Clerk of the Superior Court of Carteret county, died about the 15th instant. He had been one of the most useful men in the old county. He was in the constant service of those people for over 40 years. In 1875 a member of the constitutional convention: the whole of his life was one of praise, except his acts in said convention, when the part he took was very questionable, and in fact disgraceful, voting as he did, against his conscience, to retain the two members from Robeson county in their seats, that he knew were obtained by fraud, and we have reason to believe that to the day of his death he regretted his acts in that particular. And had it not been for the influence over him of corrupt men, whom he had confidence in, he would have never been guilty of such an outrage. He will be greatly missed by the good people of Carteret county, who had so often honored him with their confidence.

No More Hard Times

If you will stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style, buy good healthy food, cheaper and better clothing, get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of employing expensive quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and put your trust in that simple, pure remedy, Hop Bitters that cures always at a trifling cost, you will see good times and have good health.—Chronicle.

NORTH CAROLINA POLITICS.

A Coming Revolution in the Tar Heel State—Bourbon Rule Doomed

From the National Republican.

A Republican representative met Dr. Mott, the chairman of the North Carolina Republican State Committee, last evening and proceeded to obtain his views as to the late campaign and the future prospect.

"How does the situation in North Carolina resemble that in Virginia?"

"In a revolt of the people against the Bourbon leaders."

"How does the question of the state debt come in?"

"That question does not come in at all. The question of the state debt is settled for good."

"Will you state the causes which led to this revolt?

"Among the principal causes were the taking away from the people the right to elect county commissioners, justices of the peace, and township officers, and especially the attempt to force the so-called 'Prohibition Act.'"

'What was the prohibition act?"

"The present Bourbon legislature of the state passed a bill last winter to submit what is known as the 'Prohibition Act' to a general vote of the people for approval or rejection."

"Do you mean to say that the Bourbon Democrats of North Carolina are in favor of a prohibitory law?"

"No, sir. The act provided for abolishing the manufacture, but not the sale of the article. I may state here that this prohibition movement originated in the astute brain of one of the leading Bourbon politicians of the state. In the western internal revenue district the Republican gain in the last Presidential election was about 7,000. This was due to the efficiency of the organization of the party and the energy and activity during the canvass and at the polls of our working men. The organization and the campaign were largely the work of the revenue officials. This unprecedented gain threatened danger to Bourbon supremacy, and the cunning politician referred to sounded the alarm in a communication to a newspaper immediately after the election, which went the rounds of the press, urging the necessity of putting a stop to the manufacture of ardent spirits in order that the revenue officers to whom, he said, this Republican gain was due, might cease to exist in the state. His advice was taken. Temperance men were urged to assist in what was called a great moral reform movement, the sympathies of the churches were enlisted, clubs were formed, meetings held, and the legislature petitioned, apparently on all sides, to pass such an act. The secret motive and main-spring of its authors and projectors was the destruction of the Republican party in the state."

"Do you mean to say that the prohibition question was more a political than a moral one?"

"I do. As an illustration I can state that a member of the present Congress and an ardent advocate of this act, and who canvassed for it, introduced a bill in Congress allowing the head of every family to produce free of taxation eighty gallons of ardent spirits for family use."

"Yes, sir. Although it was defeated by so large a majority as to create the opinion among strangers that it is finally disposed of, yet such is not the case. The word 'prohibition' has become odious, because it was used to cover wicked device under which the citizen was to be robbed of his personal liberty and many thousands deprived of their mainstay for support. This is the way the people look at it. In no other state are there so many small manufactures.—Remote from markets, hemmed in by mountains, and producing principally grain and fruit, which will not bear wagon transportation, a large proportion of the people of our state follow the avocation which their fathers followed for generations before them.—This act was a deadly blow aimed directly at their means of support. They felt that they were to be sacrificed for the sake of bourbon party policy. It is not surprising that the campaign was a bitter one. The issue came quietly home to every day life. The old party line on the Democratic side was broken over. The color line was disregarded, and bourbons and colored prohibitionists spoke from the same stand and and were equally applauded. The Republican executive committee had in its official capacity taken strong ground against the act. The bourbon party, while it took no formal action, was generally understood to be favorable. A bourbon legislature had passed the act, their press was almost a unit in its favor, and, while some of their leaders stood aloof, the subordinate workers had instructions to urge it as a party measure. The prohibition campaign will not soon be forgotten."

"How will this aid in breaking bourbon rule in your state?"

"Remember that prohibition, as understood by the people of North Carolina, does not mean temperance reform. On the contrary, it is to them but another name for oppression, prohibiting manufacture and not sale. This is regarded as the crowning act in that series of encroachments upon personal and popular liberty which was instituted by the bourbons, and began in depriving the citizen of the right of suffrage in the election of local officers above alluded to. Just here is the rallying point for all who are opposed to any further prolongation of the rule of the bourbons. This is understood by the people, and they are fully prepared to act accordingly. This is the anti-bourbon party."

"Who is your Mahone?"

"The people are Mahoneing for themselves just now. They will find the right man in time."

"What are your prospects for beating the bourbons in your state next summer?"

"There is a Legislature to elect next summer. The legislature will elect a United States Senator. Never was the prospect so encouraging. In my opinion a reasonable support given to the movement by the administration will secure an anti-bourbon legislature."

"What is the present attitude of those Republicans who voted to sustain the prohibition act?"

"The general feeling among them is that, having been overruled at the polls, they cordially acquiesce in the result. Some of them insist that our state committee exceeded its authority in declaring upon the question at all. We differ from them. But this merely abstract question can remain an open one. We believe the Republicans who were against us will harmonize with us on an anti-bourbon platform, deprecating all the class legislation complained of. This will be no surrender of opinion, but merely acquiescence in the result."

THE WILMINGTON POST.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING DEC. 25, 1881

Coffee drinkers should read the advertisement in another column headed Good Coffee.

Jno. E. Everett, Esq., of Onslow, was in the city on Thursday last, and he says the colored convention that will be held on the 7th of January will be a grand affair, and a very large crowd is expected.

Rev. W. J. Moore, the Steward of the North Carolina Conference of the A. M. E. Zion Church, will reside at Wilson, N. C., until the next Conference. Those having business with him will act accordingly.

The children of St. James' Episcopal Church, as is their annual custom, greeted the birth of the day and the anniversary of our Saviour by singing Christmas carols on the tower of the Church this morning.

We learn from the Superior Court docket that the cases for trial at the December term were disposed of as follows:—132 cases continued, 41 judgments, 22 non-suits, 8 decrees and 4 appeals to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Daniel Kahnweiler, who is just from Florida, has placed us under obligations by providing us with green peas and tomatoes for our Christmas dinner. And we will be just green enough to eat them. "You bet!"

The following bills have been paid by order of the County Commissioners during the past week:—John H. Savage $30 00; Jos. E. Sampson, $27 18; B. R. Moore, $50; C. W. McClammy, $150; W. H. Bagley, $20 50; Stacy VanAmringe, $37 50; T. O. Bunting, $6 45.

Mr. Jno. C. Norwood, of this city, is studying medicine in Washington City, and we are pleased to learn with fine prospects. He is a young man of extraordinary talent, and with the opportunity that he now has will evidently make his mark in the state.

Guiteau's trial is still going on, and bids fair to continue to the end of the present century. Scoville has now called all the names of all the doctors within the jurisdiction of the United States, and is expected to have them summoned.

One Hundred and Fifty Thousand copies of "HELEN'S BABIES," have already been printed and sold, and the demand for it continues as lively as ever. It is a book that all should read, old and young. It is published by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, price fifty cents in paper cover, or one dollar in cloth.

The leading article in the North American Review for January, contains the judgments of five of the most distinguished American authorities upon "The Moral Responsibility of the Insane". Just at present this subject occupies a very prominent place in the minds of the American people, but quite apart from its momentary interest, as connected with the extraordinary trial now in progress in Washington, the problem of determining the fact of insanity, and fixing the limits of responsibility of the insane, is one that in itself possesses an irresistible attraction for every generous mind. The wreck and ruin of Intellect appeals at once to our highest sympathies, and to whatever is noblest in human curiosity. The authors selected for the discussion of this subject are Drs. Beard and Seguin, of New York, Dr. Elwell, of Cleveland, Dr. Jewell, of Chicago, and Dr. Folsom, of Boston. The other articles in the January number of the Review are as follows: "The New Political Machine", by Wm. Martin Dickson; "Shall Women Practice Medicine?" by Dr. Mary Putnam Jacobi; "The Geneva Award and the Insurance Companies", by G. B. Cole; and "A Chapter of Confederate History," by F. G. Ruffin.

The announcement is made that the February number of the Review, to be issued January 15th, will contain Part III. of the "Christian Religion" series of articles, and that it is to be a very able defence of the Christian faith.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, General Kiefer, appointed the committees on Wednesday last.—We give only the name of the chairman of the committee:

Guilty of Wrong

Some people have a fashion of confusing excellent remedies with the large mass of "patent medicines," and in this they are guilty of a wrong. There are some advertised remedies fully worth all that is asked for them, and one at least we know of—Hop Bitters. The writer has had occasion to use the Bitters in just such a climate as we have most of the year in Bay City, and has always found them to be first class and reliable, doing all that is claimed for them.—Tribune.

GOOD COFFEE.

Everybody wants it, but very few get it, because most people do not know how to select coffee, or it is spoiled in the roasting or making. To obviate these difficulties has been our study. Thurber's package Coffees are selected by an expert who understands the art of blending various flavors. They are roasted in the most perfect manner (it is impossible to roast well in small quantities), then put in pound packages (in the bean, not ground,) bearing our signature as a guarantee of genuineness, and each package contains the Thurber recipe for making good Coffee. We pack two kinds, Thurber's "No. 34," strong and pungent, Thurber's "No. 41," mild and rich. One or the other will suit every taste. They have the three great points, good quality, honest quantity reasonable price. Ask your Grocer for Thurber's roasted Coffee in pound packages, "No. 34" or "No. 41." Do not be put off with any other kind—your own palate will tell you what is best.

Where persons desire it we also furnish the "Ideal" Coffee-pot, the simplest, best and cheapest coffee-pot in existence. Grocers who sell our Coffee keep them. Ask for descriptive circular. Respectfully, &c.,

H. K. & F. B. THURBER & Co.,
Importers, Wholesale Grocers and Coffee Roasters, New York.

P. S.—As the largest dealers in food products in the world, we consider it our interest to manufacture only pure and wholesome goods and pack them in a tidy and satisfactory manner. All goods bearing our name are guaranteed to be of superior quality, pure and wholesome, and dealers are authorized to refund the purchase price in any case where customers have cause for dissatisfaction. It is therefore to the interest of both dealers and consumers to use Thurber's brands. dec 18-4t.

Never spend more than you make is the temperance. But many of our people spend all they can get credit for.

The work of widening and deepening of Harlow's canal, connecting Newport river with the Neuse river, has commenced. One dredge boat is at work and it is the intention of the managers to place another on soon. This is a very important work for Carteret and Craven counties, and we are much gratified at these good tidings.
